Sanskrit IV

In this semester, we complete the range of Sanskrit grammar, with secondary conjugations, vocabulary acquisition, an investigation of etymology, and a study of the principles behind words and their meanings. In addition to finishing the textbook on grammar, the Devavanimpravesika, the class reads examples of a range of Buddhist, Hindu, and secular verses. Increased attention is given to translation and the hands-on practice of bringing ancient texts into the contemporary world. Cross-listed as REL587. Prerequisite: REL377.

Course Number: REL387
Unit: 4.0
Program: Religious Studies