Mind and Its World I

An in-depth, systematic exploration of the many types of minds and mental factors that arise and the objects that comprise the world that the mind experiences. Since delusion and suffering arise with respect to these, this study is the basis for understanding our experience, undoing delusion, and generating insight.

Course Number: REL614
Unit: 3.0
Program: Religious Studies