

Advanced Practicum in Psychological Research

An advanced examination using research methods that discover new knowledge about a topic drawn from psychology. Assignments may include literature search, study design, data collection, data entry, data analysis, and manuscript preparation. This course culminates in a public oral presentation. Topics vary by semester and section. Prerequisites: PSYB101 and any one of the following courses: PSYB301, PSYB345, PSYB357, PSYB371, PSYB373; or by permission of the instructor.

Course Number: PSYB495

Unit: 3.0

Program: UNDG Contemplative Psych