

Living and Learning Community

This 1-credit course is designed to support students' transition into Naropa University through the experience of a Living and Learning Community within the residence hall. This course emphasizes community building and engagement, fostering connections among students and faculty by creating an intentional learning community. Specific topics vary by course section based on the theme of each Living and Learning Community. This course is taken for pass/fail credit.

Course Number: COL101

Unit: 1.0

Program: Naropa Core Curriculum